

I would be very disappointed if a federal regulation on telephone solicitations increased the number of unwanted phone calls in my household. The current Indiana law has almost eliminated the telephone solicitation calls. I used to have 5 to 10 messages a day on my answering machine with unwanted calls about products I would never purchase.